APPLIANCES SAFETY

B. & O., Pennsylvania and Other Roads Asked For Extension of Time in Which to Equip With Serety Appliances - President Knapp Explained That There Was Misapprehension, and That Cars Not Equipped Could Not Participate in Inter-state Commerce-Visited the President.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.-The interstate commerce commission to-day gave a hearing to the representatives of the several railway companies asking for a further extension of the time allowed the rallroads to equip their lines with safety appliances under the act of March 2, 1893. Two years ago the commission granted an extension until January 1, 1900.

The further extension asked for at the present time is one year. The representatives of various labor organizations were also present to offer their aide of the case. The representatives of about 166 roads were in attendance John K. Cowan, president of the Bal timore & Ohio, representing as chairman eighty-eight other roads, having $0,000 miles of line, made the opening argument. He said that June 1, 1899 2(1,263 freight cars out of 2,268,000 engaged in inter-state commerce were no quipped with safety appliances. Since that time the number had been reduced to between 150,000 and 175,000. The argument of the railroads asking for an extension, he said, was based upon the showing made by the roads since the last application. The showing demonstrated that the rallroads had done as well as could be expected. Some of the cars not equipped were old and would go out of service within the coming year. The present withdrawal of the 175,000 unequipped cars, he said, would practically paralyze inter-state ban-merce. The roads of the country, he said, were generally unequipped for the business they were doing. Indeed, he did not believe if an exaggeration to say that not one had enough cars for it's business. Beyond the additional time now requested, he said the roads would ask no further extension. Wayne Mac-Veagh, representing the Pennsylvania and affiliated lines, joined in asking for the extension. They had equipped 148,-900 out of 160,000. Mr. Hamlin, on behalf of the Boston

& Maine, said that his road would have mplied with the law by January 1, 1900, but it felt impelled to join in the application because other roads had not

President Knapp, of the commission stated for the benefit of those present, that of the roads petitioning for an exsion over 90 per cent were fully ipped. He said there was a misequipped. apprehension as to the meaning of the law which provided, not that all roads should equip their cars, but that after a certain date no unequipped cars should participate in inter-state com-Fully equipped roads could not, therefore, haul unequipped cars after expiration of the limit.

At this juncture President Knapp an nounced that the President had sent word that he would be glad to receive the representatives of the railroads and labor organizations present at the white house at 1 o'clock. The invitation was After some further argument by representatives of other roads the committee recessed until 2 o'clock.

Strike Settled.

BLOOMSBURG. Pa., Dec. "6.-The grievance of the 250 car builders employed by the American Car and Foundry Company at Berwick, has been adjusted and the men have returned to work after a three days strike. The difficulty arose from the adoption by the company of a new system of work by which wages were reduced.

In future the men will be paid by the day instead of the piece as heretofore, and although they will not be able to make such high wages as under old plan, they decided it was to their interest to accept the offer of the com-

Eczema! The Only Cure.

Eczema is more than a skin disease, and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The whole trouble is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood diseases. diseases.

Ensems broke out on my daughter, and con-tinued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but graw worse, and its dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many mens medicines were taken, but without re-cult, until we decided to try 8,8 S, and by the time the first bottle was finished, her head be-ran to heal. A down bottles cured her com-pletely and left her skin perfectly as H. T. SHORE.

MIGRAW CONFERS.

With Party Leaders at Parkersburg "Jos" Chilton Kicks on the Graf-ton Man-"Doc" Hall Breaks Up the Conterence by an Appeal to Sidetrack Silver and Bryan.

Parkersburg State Journal: The Mc-Graws and Chiltons are just visiting around. Where one goes these days the other is sure to be. There is only one McGraw, of course, and there are only two Chiltons, but they represent good many people, each of these fac-tions does, so that they are known as the McGraws and the Chiltons.

Well, the McGraws and the Chiltons do not get along together like babes in the wood. There is that lacking of cherubic amenity which makes both factions cuss a little, and to watch why one is always close on the trail of

The McGraws claim to be the Democ racy of the state. The Chiltons claim to be the Democracy of the state. And there you have it. They will not con-sent to both be the Democracy. The Chiltons say that they ran things once and saved the state, and that the and saved the state, and that the Mc-Graws ran it the last time and lost it. The McGraws claim that nobedy could have saved it the last time, and hence they want to try it again and vindicate themselves. The Chiltons smile at the idea of vindication, and say that it is an irrideacent dream. The McGraws say they don't know much about dreams, but that they want to try it again and show the people that this state never was Republican. Still the Chiltons will not agree, and that is, why it is that Joe was here last Sunday when John came from Grafton to see the boys.

Chiltons will not agree, and that Is why it is that Joe was here last Sunday when John came from Grafton to see the boys.

They had a great time, George Seal was here to bolster the Chilton cause and Judge Bennett came over from Weston to see if he couldn't help John keep from having a fuss with Joe. The whole crowd met in a room at the Jackson, and the matter of Neal being a candidate in this district again came up. McGraw was against it. Chilton said that this was not McGraw's district and for him to keep out. McGraw acrily retorted that this was not McGraw acrily retorted that this was not McGraw acrily retorted that this was not Chilton's district, either, and he would like to know what he had to do with it. Then Judge Bennett said for the boys not to figit, and Neal poked in and said that this was not the judge's district, and that he had nothing to say. This was considered a great indignity, the judge's advanced years at least entiting him to certain liberty, but after the Neal retort he kept quiet.

Then McGraw areo and stated that he was making a tour of the state and stopping at all the principal points in each congressional district to make plans for the campaign next year, and that if he were let alone he could fix the thing so that there would be no question of Demogratic success all over the state. He was now giving the Fourth district his attention, and if there were certain people taken out of the way and made simple parts of the rank and dile of the party that success would be assured.

Chilton took this as a direct personnil dab at himself and his tong tokes were the way and made simple parts of the rank and file of the party that success would be assured.

Chilton took this as a direct personni dab at himself, and his long locks were standing on end as he jumped to his teet and exclaimed that if it were not for a lot of misguided would-be leaders from over in the neighborhood of Grafion that there would be no question of Democratic success, and if these people were not eliminated from the campaign the Republicans would have as easy a time of it next year as they had in 1896.

Chilton shook with rage and McGraw's eyes glared like a tiger's. There had been a crowd of silent ones up to date, and they were more silent than eyer after these twin outbursts. Some fellow bolder than the rest, suggested that they were not settling things yery fast, and then it was that another fellow bolder than it was that another fellow arose and read what purported to be a proposition. It was that if Henry S. Wilson should be allowed to be the congressional candidate, 32,000 would be placed in the hands of "Plug" Wilson, the Lincoln county stalwart, for use in the lower end of the district, and that there would be financially-fixed leutenants placed at other points further north. McGraw said he was agreeable to the plan, Chilton said he didn't know whether he was or not, as he believed that Neal ought to have another change, but that a sure $20,00 was not picked up every day; he would let them know later what he thought floour it.

There was a long discussion while Chilton and Neal got over by the door and talked in whispers to each other. The talk of the crowd was forced, and it was plain to see that the men in it were all waiting for Joe to make up his mind as to the Wilson proposition. McGraw fumed, and tried to impress the people that he was the leader, but they just identical or relies in the control of t people that he was the leader, but they just fidgetted and refused to talk they just fidgetted and refused to talk the matter over.

Things were in this unsettled condition when there came a knock at the door. It was opened and there stood Dr. M. T. Hall. He was received coldly, and he managed to break the meeting up before he got through. He had a few words to say, he informed the assembled hosts of the unterrified.

a few words to say, he informed the assembled hosts of the unterrified. "George," said he, addressing Mr. Neal, "there's just one thing I want to ask you to do—don't have any free silver plank in the platform next year. For God's sake, George, let the silver business be buried. I want to tell you, but, of course this is to go no further, you know, as I wouldn't do anything to hurt the party, that the silver business won't do. I was the hottest silver man that walked these streets during the last campaign I talked silver till I was black in the face. People used to say that "there comes Doc Hall, and he's going to talk free silver, sa let's get away.' Yes, sir, George, tha's the kind of a silver crink I was, and now you know it won't do. I'm as good a Democrat as lives, but it won't do to have any more silver. It'll make me close up like a clam all through the campaign, and I certainly do love to discuss the issues with the folks as they come along. Why, during the last campaign I would talk silver and try to borrow money. The talk went all right, but I couldn't raise a cent. What happened? The gold standard came along, and Shattuck told me this week I could borrow $5.000 out of the bank if I wanted it. The banks are fammed and crammed full of money. 'It's no trick at all, with any sort of scuirity, to get money any where, and it is precisely the condition I used to tell the people that wouldn't be if the Republicans won. You used to say in your speeches, George, that if we elected you and Bryan, and the free silver notion became effective, money would be plenity and there would be no trouble for the poor man to raise capital to go into business. Now isn't it stranke the gold standard? Money everywhere —everybody's got it—business booming and men all at work—and stil you tell me to go in to business. Now isn't it stranke the gold standard?' Money everywhere —everybody's got it—business booming and men all at work—and still you tell me to go into business. Now isn't it stranke the gold standard?' Money everywhere preference to any other kidney preparation. First kid-ne-olds are a scientifice preparation. Second they are tablets, which is the scientific form of preparing medicine. Third, there are never my had after effects from their use. Fourth, they are strictly a kidney cure and nerve tonic. Fifth, you do not have to get work while using Kid-ne-olds. A fifty-cent box contains enough for about two weeks' treatment. People use kid-ne-olds, because they cure kidney allments.

Here is what Mrz. R. D. Seeley, 47 Bradford street, Charleston, says: "I suffered for some time with pains across the small part of my back; at times they would be very nevere and rendered it almost impossible for use to get about; I was very nevere and rendered it almost impossible for use to get about; I was very nevere and rendered it almost was a straid of a spell of faver. I read about Morrow's Kid-ne-olds and where they were guaranteed to cure lame back and nervousness, so I dedicate to try them. I obtained some at the drug store and began taking them at once according to the directions; in a day or so the pains disappeared from my back and i very way and in a remarkably short time I was feeling perfectly well again and have been so ever since."

CALLED MEETING

Of Committee of Inquiry in the Roberts Case for 11 O'clock Thursday Morning - Proceedings Involving Family Affairs May Not be Open to the Public.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 .- Representative Taylor, of Ohio, chairman of the special committee to investigate the case of Mr. Roberts, of Utah, has called meeting of the committee for 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. Mr. lor says this initial meeting will be to determine upon a general line of action While the chairman would not speak for the committee, he said he had no doubt that Mr. Roberts would be allowed to be present, with counsel, if he desired and would be afforded the usual facilities to have his side presented. There are a number of witnesses Washington and some in Utah, but it is probable that the committee will not leave Washington. Mr. Taylor said he had some doubt as to whether the hearings, particularly such parts as involves family matters, should be oper to the public.

Mr. Roberts was about the house during the day. There was no session, and he was engaged most of the time in chatting with groups of members and visitors, who showed a friendly dispo-sition toward him. He said he had no omment to make on the course of the house. He will probably look after his interests in person before the committee of inquiry.
